Crops—Schools and Health of Raccoon and Big Valleys.

CHURCH GROVE, Aug. 23, 1873.
THE CHRONICLE: In my letter published in the WEEKLY CHRONICLE of August 1, I mentioned the fine prospect for an exuberant crop in Beaver Creek, Bull Run, Raccoon, Hickory, Hines, Wolf and Big Valleys. Last week I passed through the same valleys again, and I regret that the protracted dry weather causes me to somewhat modify my anticipations.

During the latter part of May, and the whole of June, the rains were so frequent and heavy that a large majority of the farmers of these beautiful valleys were unable to properly cultivate their corn and when the dry weather set in, the fields were solidly matted with weeds and grass, which caused the corn to begin to fail in a very few days. The consequence is many fields that promised an overwhelming yield, will barely make half a crop. Enough, however, will be raised for home consumption and a small surplus for market.

There is not now, nor has there been, any cholera in Big Valley. The two Mrs. Sharps did not die of cholera. This I have from Mr. R. M. Longmire, who is a relative of the Sharps, and resides in one and a half miles of them.

The potato bugs mentioned in my last letter, are still endeavoring to demolish our potato patches. We have tried lime, ashes, coal oil, &c., with little or no success, and we have now resorted to an unfailing remedy, to-wit, that of killing them with clubs.

Tobacco worms are intolerably voracious this summer. I notice they have played sad havoc with a few neglected patches. Why don't Congress pass a law prohibiting worms from dealing in leaf tobacco?

A Sunday school was established at Shady Grove school house last spring upon an entirely new plan. The Superintendent is less than eighteen years of age, and all the other officers, including teachers, are young people. The school has proved a brilliant success. John R. Burkhardt, is the faithful superintendent.

Our newly elected school directors have gone vigorously to work, and expect soon to commence the erection of three new school houses. They say they are determined to have good comfortable school houses, and have them properly located. This is right. We want houses to send our children to, and not such miserable mockeries as we have heretofore had in this district. It should always be borne in mind that children are not proof against cold.

A young Mr. Smith, of Raccoon Valley, has proven himself a perfect hero, by going and waiting upon Dr. Lewis after all others, save faithful Dr. W. A. Rodgers, had deserted him. When Dr. Rodgers requested Mr. Smith to go to Dr. Lewis' bedside he informed him that the Doctor had cholera, that a nurse would be in danger of taking the disease, and that consequently the pay would be good. Mr. Smith replied: "I will go, but I will not ask pay for it." True to his word he went, remained until the Doctor died, assisted in his funeral, and then unostentatiously retired to his home. Can anything be more gloriously heroic? I am glad to be able to chronicle that, notwithstanding the prophetic declarations of many of his timid neighbors. Mr. Smith has not been attacked by the fearful malady, Dr. Rodgers says God will not permit cholera to touch such a hero as Smith is.

We had a delicious rain on last Monday, but the weather continues very warm.
